Remarks

Brookings County is in far eastern South Dakota against the Minnesota state line. It has been a Republican stronghold in presidential elections since 1936, backing all but two Republican presidential nominees since then (1964 and 2008 are the two exceptions). The county has experienced modest population growth since the 1970s. The county is known as the home of South Dakota State University.

Two precincts rate high for statistical indication of election manipulation, containing a minimum of 125 likely fraudulent ballots each – Precincts 13 and 14, to the north and west of the university geographically. The precincts appearing in the worst precincts list should be prioritized for canvassing to identify voter registration illegalities, especially since voter registration fraud in South Dakota has been proven to be prevalent, particularly in transient living quarters such as RV parks, apartments, assisted living centers, and most likely in the case of Brookings County, with regard to a transitory population of college students coming in and out of the county.
